Wheels Down: Union Help Has Arrived For Puerto Rico

With the help of AFA United Flight Attendants and ALPA United Pilots, a United Boeing 777-300ER, one of the largest and newest aircraft in its fleet, has just landed in Puerto Rico to help with the disaster relief efforts.

The plane left EWR at 1100 with over 300 union workers, first responders and skilled volunteers from over 17 states.

On the ground in Puerto Rico, the union workers will deliver donated food, water, and essential supplies to those who need it most. They’ll also coordinate with the Puerto Rico AFL-CIO and the city of San Juan on various efforts including helping clear road blockages, servicing hospitals patients, delivering emergency supplies and restoring power and communications.
Today and every day AFA Flight Attendants were proud to answer the call and help our sisters and brothers in need. You can join our efforts in Puerto Rico by donating through AFA's Disaster Relief Fund >
